THOM MAYNE 2013 AIA GOLD MEDAL

Architect Thom Mayne will receive the prestigious Gold Medal presented by the American Institute of Architects this coming March. According to Antoine Predock, this award recognises "a 40-year body of work that is intellectually rigorous and consistently searching". Through his Morphosis studio created in 1972, Thom Mayne has sought ways to stretch conventional formal boundaries. His first realisation, a school in Pasadena, opened the road to his success and brought in prestigious commissions. At the same time he made a commitment to academics and created the Southern California Institute of Architects, or SCI-Arc, with five colleagues. He has been a major trendsetter within the federal government's General Service Administration's (GSA) Design Excellence program. Thom Mayne was among the pioneers in sustainable architecture and has been a fervent supporter of architecture as an artistic factor toward social progress.
